One of the major themes of The Chocolate War is bullying. We have explored the impact bullying has on young people as well as the various ways in which bullies pick their victims and gender differences in bullying techniques. Now it is your turn to be part of the solution to this problem. Bullying is an issue in all schools.

Your job is to create a public service announcement on bullying for the middle school students. Review some of the youtube videos we watched on bullying to help you get some ideas.

1. Brainstorm ideas with your group.
2. Come up with a plan for filming.
3. Complete the storyboard graphic organizer
4. Create a video that is one minute or less that conveys important information on the specific bullying topic your group has been assigned.

Remember your voice must be clear and concise if you or others speak in the video. Your message must be clear and address the topic you have been assigned.
